ABANDONED MINE LANDS PROGRAM FACT SHEET

as of September 16, 2014

1. The Nevada Abandoned Mine Lands Program was initiated by the Nevada Legislature and is administered by the Nevada Division of Minerals under NRS 513.
2. It is estimated approximately 200,000 abandoned mine “features” exist in Nevada from historical mining operations. Approximately 50,000 may present physical safety hazards.
3. The program has two major tasks:
 - a. Abatement of Hazardous Conditions - The Division identifies and ranks the hazardous condition and conducts ownership research at the county courthouse. If a landowner or mining claimant is identified, the Division notifies them of their responsibility to secure the hazard and simultaneously notifies the county. If the securing is not accomplished in the time frame established by regulation, the Division notifies the county if enforcement action is necessary. If no landowner or claimant exists, the Division fences the hazard as soon as possible based on the hazard’s rank and posts warning signs.
 - b. Public Awareness - The Division educates the public about the dangers in and around abandoned mines. The motto “Stay Out and Stay Alive” is stressed at school presentations, on billboards, through public service announcements, and at other events.
4. The program is funded by fees paid by the minerals industry and grants from the Bureau of Land Management. Two Division personnel are primarily assigned to the abandoned mine lands program.
5. Since 1987 and as of September 16, 2014 the Division has identified and ranked 18,604 hazardous mine openings throughout the state. Landowners, claimants, counties, and the Division have secured 14,793 of these openings. Priority attention is given to hazards near populated areas.
6. For more information about abandoned mines contact the Division of Minerals.
